

COLLEGE OF JUSTICE,
SAFETY & MILITARY SCIENCE

University Certificate in Conservation Law Enforcement

Offered by the Police Studies program in the School of Justice Studies

This certificate prepares future public safety professionals interested in broadening their knowledge and professional expertise in wildlife management, policy and administration; fire and emergency scene operations; first responder emergency medical care; and conservation law enforcement. This knowledge base will be useful not only to those public safety officers who choose to work for traditional outdoor public safety organizations such as the Department of Interior, U.S. Forest Service, State Fish and Wildlife agencies and National Parks, but also for those who work in traditional public safety organizations in rural communities.

Required Courses (27 Hours):

- PLS 103 Foundations in Policing
- PLS 216 Criminal Law
- PLS 340 Conservation Officer
- EMC 102 First Responder Emergency Medical Care
- EMC 104 Healthcare Basic Life Support
- EMC 105 Survey of Medical Terminology
- CRJ 374 Wildlife Crime
- FSE 223 Forest and Emergency Scene Operations
- WLD 381 Principles of Wildlife Management
- WLD 585 Wildlife Resource Police and Administration

CONTACT

For information please contact:
Police Studies Program Coordinator
Dr. Derek Paulsen.

Email: Derek.Paulsen@eku.edu

eku.edu/justicestudies